A. H. S. Looses In Basketball

Appomattox lost its first two tries at basketball this season by losing to Concord by scores of 62 to 48 in the girl's game and 39 to 16 in the boys' game. In the girls' game Barbara Johnson scored 21 points, followed by Beatrice Tinsley with 19 points. In the boys game the scoring was done by Sam Ferguson and John Chandler.

Then in the second game of the season, Robert E. Lee, of Lynchburg downed Appomattox, 34 to 14 in the girls' game and 44 to 14 for the boys. Joyce Christian was high scorer for the girls and Sam Ferguson for the boys. Buddy Ould played a fine defensive game.

The Appomattox teams will play Pamplin at Charlotte C. H. December 8, Thursday night, at 7:30. The next game with Concord will be played there, as a "home game" on Tuesday, December 13 at 7:30.

The local team is playing other schools on the schedule at a great disadvantage, in that the local team practices out-of-doors and then goes into a gymnasium for its games. However, the players aren't complaining at not having a gym and are working hard to learn a game which is entirely new to them. The game of basketball is a game of art while many other sports, and calls for constant practice, thinking and quick reflexes. Continued support of the A. H. S. is asked and a lot of improvement is expected as the season progresses.

On Christmas

While the litter from Christmas packages is still about, be particularly careful of smoking. Hot ashes dropped on tissue paper or a carelessly-tossed match could result in tragedy.

High School Chatter

What's up, doc?

Big things have been going on at A. H. S. The big b'ue teams were both defeated by Concord in their first game of the season. The team appreciated the support shown by a large number of spectators. The second games were played at Robert E. Lee Junior High, Lynchburg, Tuesday night, both A. H. S. teams losing. Let's all be on hand Thursday night at Charlotte Court House, where they will play Pamplin, to help the teams win their first games.

Fifteen girls were at Longwood College, Farmville, for Dance Day, Thursday.

We wonder—why a certain group of boys were so interested in Amherst Sunday night? Why a certain certain girl's hand sparkles so (could it be the diamond?) Why Tom is so interested in cheerleaders.

So long for now!

Planning For James Town 350th Fete

Richmond, Dec. 7.- The Virginia General Assembly is being asked to set the wheels in motion to celebrate properly the 350th anniversary of the landing of the first permanent English settlement in America, at Jamestown. Commander Raymond B. Bottom, of Newport News, president of the Virginia Travel Council, has forwarded resolutions making this request to the Governor of Virginia. The resolutions were adopted at the recent annual meeting of the Council in Richmond.

James M. Thompson, of Gaylord, who was a resident of Norfolk at the time of the tercentennial, told the Council of how plans for the Jamestown Exposition were formulated at Norfolk and the Council followed his address with a request that the Assembly "create a study agency at this time for the purpose of recommending what form of observance is appropriate and that the member of Congress from the Third Congressional District of Virginia is suggested as a member of this group."

Jamestown will have its 350th anniversary in 1957. Jamestown is now under the joint ownership of the Association for teh Preservation of Virginia Antiquities and of the National Park Service. It is visited annually by thousands.

Young Hunter Studies Hard And Bags Game

Jack Caldwell, aged ten, decided about three months ago not to buy another comic book. He discovered more "true to life thrills" could be found in the various outdoor life magazines. Through his reading he took hunting trips to all the choice spots in the U. S. and Alaska. He "killed" ducks, geese, bears, pheasants, deer, Alaskan goats and much small game.

He also wrote for leaflets of types of guns, and after much study decided that he should have a .410 shot gun!

He was so serious and so in earnest about the matter that he was given this gun, a hunting license, shells, and a rigid set of rules and precautions to follow.

During the Thanksgiving holidays he killed one rabbit, seven squirrels and one skunk! He hasn't seen a bird or turkey, but he is confident that he will supply the turk'y Christmas dinner.

Not bad for beginner's luck, or is it wise to be well informed before you start a new project!

Glee Club Concert Here Saturday Night

CONCERT ACCOMPANIST

WALTER DRESSER

The V. M. I. Glee Club will appear in Appomattox this Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock, at the high school auditorium. Much interest is being shown in the concern, because of the fact that Walter Dresser, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Dresser, who will graduate from that school in February, is the accompanist. The V. M. I. singers have just completed a tour of New York state, where they opened their out-of-town season at West Point Military Academy. They were recently in Martinsville, Va., and will be at Madison College, Harrisonburg on December 17. Last winter and last spring the Glee Club's concerts were received with marked enthusiasm at various girls' colleges in Virginia, in theatres at Richmond and Lynchburg, by the Marines at Quantico, the patients at the Walter Reed hospital in Washington and the National Cathedral there. Their broadcast chorals at the Easter Sunrise service at Virginia's famous Natural Bridge won acclaim from far and near.

Directed by Colonel Dillard since his return from service in the Pacific, the Glee Club resumed real musical activity and greatly improved the calibre and rendition of widely varied music. A group of Christmas selections will be presented Saturday evening, along with familiar songs such as "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" and "The Spirit of V. M. I."

To Vote On Leaf Quotas

Approximately 300 sun-cured tobacco growers in Appomattox County are eligible to vote on marketing quotas in a referendum to be held on Thursday, December 15th, according to Bennett Harding, the chairman of the PMA County Committee. He said that anyone may vote who has an interest in the 1949 sun-cured crop, either as owner, operator, tenant, or share cropper. But he added that no person is allowed more than a single vote, regardless of the number of crops of tobacco he owns or has an interest in.

In the referendum, growers may vote for three year quotas beginning in 1950; may vote for quotas in 1950 only; or they may vote against quotas. No marketing quotas will be in effect unless at least two-thirds of the growers give their approval. Likewise, Government price supports will be dropped if growers reject quotas.

Mr. Harding explained that marketing quotas, until now, had not been required on sun-cured tobacco but that heavy production this year will no doubt create a sizeable carryover to add substancial supplies already on hand. For this reason, the Secretary of Agriculture, on December 1, proclaimed quotas on the 1950 crop, as a method of adjusting supply to demand and to assure growers obtaining a fair price on the tobac o they produce.

The sun-cured tobacco referendum will be held in conjunction with the PMA committeemen elections on the same day, and voting places will be the same.
